This is a good map. However, you do not need to purchase it. If you hike in Torres you will be required to go to a meeting with the rangers to discuss safety and rules. They will give you a completely adequate and useful map at that meeting, for free. So buy it if you like maps, or maybe want to do a little pre-planning at home, but you won't be needing it in the park.

The park now has the new regulation (from Oct 2016.) Some campsites and side-trip trails on this map are no longer available. Make sure to download the latest hiking map from their official website. You DO need to make a reservation for each campsite on Paine "O" Circuit / "W" route.

This is a great map, but, as many others have noted, it's frustrating that there aren't more detailed maps available -- Torres is really, really big, and it would be great to have maps that were more helpful on navigating specific hikes.

Good map. Wish it had distances in addition to time.

Another great map, up to date. We used for some great hikes (google the "W") in Torres del Paine park in spring of 2016. Cool place, you should go, and use this map, even the park rangers asked where we got it.

Good map. My only complaint is that there are no distances on it. It shows how many hours between camps, but that is really subjective

I happen to love maps and this topo map proved very useful on a recent trip to the Torres del Paine. Despite constant use, the map did not tear and I didn't have to worry about damage by fluids. Contours and shaded relief made it easy to identify location. Definitely recommend the map for even the casual day-hiker in the Torres del Paine.

A great map overall but a key would be great- the back could be used for a lot of helpful info!
