Customer Reviews

For this edition of Moon Atlantic Canada, Andrew Hempstead traveled extensively through all four provinces. He feasted on traditional rappie pie along the Acadian Coast, viewed the wonders of Prince Edward Island through the eyes of his children, and drove the entire length of the Trans-Labrador Highway. These diverse experiences, along with input from untold numbers of locals and a love of the outdoors, created this guidebook. As a professional travel writer, Andrew spends as much time as possible out on the road. During his travels, he experiences the many and varied delights of Atlantic Canada the same way his readers do. Since the early 1990s, Andrew has authored and updated more than 60 guidebooks, and supplied content for regional and national clients like Expedia and KLM. His photography has appeared in a wide variety of media, ranging from international golf magazines to a Ripley's Believe it or Not! Museum. Andrew and his wife Dianne also own Summerthought Publishing, a Canadian regional publisher of nonfiction books. He is a member of The Diners ClubÃ® World's 50 Best Restaurants Academy. Andrew has also spoken on travel writing to a national audience and has contributed to a university-level travel writing textbook.

We are planning a trip to Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and this guide was very helpful

Great book to help plan a visit next summer. Would like to see more hotel/motel suggestions but very good as far as places to go and things to see. I like to use Moon's books when planning a trip to a new area.

Informative

While this book is strong on English parts of country and English places to visit, it is weak on the African Americans, Native Americans, and even the French in this area.

The handbook was most helpful. The restaurants in the book were the best. We dined at many listed and was pleasantly pleased with the dinner and their review.

It's a Moon guide - objective and subjective - both --- and I appreciate that Bought as a gift. Expect it was helpful.

Hope to use it this summer
